Baseball Prizes for 1886.

For losing an ear, appointment as usher in the grand stand.
A broken finger joint, lay off until it is well.

Scraping skin from one elbow in stealing base, promise of an increase in salary, both elbows two promises.

Getting second on a long slide (base-ment of pants must remain intact), autograph of managers.

For having wire from mask driven into the skull half an inch, loud applause from directors; for getting killed, set of resolutions, without frame, to relatives.

For twisting the ankle in trying to make an impossible play, a monkey wrench; it will be found a useful implement in such cases.

Bringing the shins, the right to rub them.

For losing the sight of the eyes in trying to catch a fly in the face of the sun, release, with back pay.

For having spike in an opponent's shoe driven through the instep, two days' vacation.

For having toe-nail ground off by an opponent's heel, the privilege to limp.

For not making up a face or saying "Oh!" when a hot liner lands on the fingers' ends, sympathy of stockholders.

Foul ball in the pit of the stomach, permit to stoop.

Having teeth knocked out and continuing to play, the privilege of being called "tough."

For killing a scorer, a $1,000 United States bond.

For kicking against the umpire's decisions, when he is known to be right, two shoes from a mule, this is an emblematic trophy.

The management in offering the above prizes, does it for the purpose of encouraging the players to put forth their best endeavors, as by so doing the game will be more entertaining, and with the hope that the dividends will be larger than they otherwise would be.—Boston Herald

THE INTER-STATE BILL.

The bill to regulate commerce, known as "the Cullom bill," as amended and passed by the Senate, provides for a commission of five persons, to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to carry out the purpose of the bill. The principal office of the Commission is to be at Washington, where general sessions are to be held, but special sessions may be held elsewhere, to suit the public convenience, in which case the necessary expenses incurred are to be paid from the Treasury. Not more than three of the five Commissioners shall be appointed from the same political party. All persons holding stocks or bonds of any common carrier, or holding an official relation to such corporations, are declared ineligible for appointment. The Commissioners must not engage in any other business. The Commission is given authority to inquire into the business and management of all common carriers, subject to the provisions of the bill, and to obtain full and complete information as to such business; may require the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of all books, papers, agreements, tariffs and documents relating to any matter under investigation, and may to that invoke the aid of the United States Courts.

Persons having complaints to make against any common carrier of interstate commerce shall make the complaint in writing to the Commission; the Commission shall send the complaint to the common carrier, and require either the satisfaction of the complaint or an answer in writing within a reasonable time specified. The Commission shall investigate all complaints forwarded to it by State Commissions, and may institute inquiries on its own motion. Complaints shall not be dismissed because of the absence of direct damage to complainant. The reports of the Commission shall be in writing, and its decision shall be made prima facie evidence in all judicial proceedings. Whenever any common carrier shall refuse to obey any lawful order of the Commission, it is made the duty of the Commission to apply to the United States Circuit Court, sitting in equity, alleging the violation, and the Court shall hear and determine the matter on short notice and without the formal proceedings of an ordinary suit, but so as to do justice, and the Court may, in proper cases, issue writs of injunction or other process, mandatory or otherwise, to retain farther violation of the orders of the Commission on the part of the common carrier offending. For such purposes the Court shall be deemed always in session.

The bill requires that all charges for any service in transporting passengers or freights, or storing goods by common carriers, shall be reasonable. It prohibits all rebates and drawbacks and all unjust discrimination, requiring that all persons shall be treated and charged alike for services rendered under substantially similar circumstances and conditions. Every common carrier subject to the bill shall, within forty days after it becomes a law, file with the Commission copies of all its tariffs of fares and freights, including its classification and terminal charges, and shall make them public, so far as the Commission may deem practicable. No advance on such published rates shall be made within ten days of the public notice. The "long" and "short" term of the bill, being Section 4, reads as follows:

That it shall be unlawful for any common carrier to charge or receive any greater compensation in the aggregate for the transportation of passengers or of like class and quantity of property, subject to the provisions of this Act, for a shorter than for a longer distance, over the same line, in the same direction, and from the same original point of departure or to the same point of arrival; but this shall not be construed as authorizing any common carrier within the terms of this Act to charge and receive as great compensation for a shorter as for a longer distance; provided, however, that upon application to the Commission appointed under the provisions of this Act, such common carrier may in special cases be authorized to charge less for longer than for shorter distances for the transportation of passengers or property, and the Commission may from time to time make general rules exempting such designated common carrier, in such special cases, from the operation of this section of this Act, and when such exception shall have been made and published, they shall, until changed by the Commission or by law, have like force and effect as though the same had been specified in this section. Any common carrier who shall violate the provisions of this section of this Act shall be deemed guilty of extortion and shall be liable to the person or persons against whom any such excessive charge was made for all damages occasioned by such violation.

The bill now goes to the House of Representatives for concurrence, and the JOURNAL hopes it will be passed by that body, and signed by the President. It will be of immense benefit to Nevada, and remove the unjust discriminations practiced against the State for many years. It will place Reno and other towns on equal terms with "competitive" points, and give Nevada people a chance in the race for life.

The bill enlarging the powers and duties of the Department of Agriculture was Thursday considered in Committee of the Whole. Mr. McCreary, of Kentucky, heartily supported the measure, and argued that the United States had the grand agricultural empire of the world, and should elevate the Department of Agriculture to the dignity of the other executive Departments of the Government. Mr. Reagan, of Texas, pointed out the constitutional objections which he had to the bill, and discussed the superiority of the bill introduced by him to create a Department of Industry which he proposed to offer as a substitute for the pending measure. Mr. Weaver, of Iowa, favored the bill which would give labor an impetus which it had not yet enjoyed.

In the Senate Wednesday Mitchell submitted a concurrent resolution expressing it to be the sense of Congress that negotiations should be entered into between the United States and the Chinese Government with a view to securing such modifications of the present treaty with China as may result in stopping the coming of Chinese to this country, except in the case of diplomats and their servants, and except also in the case of persons at sea, driven to seek a place of shelter. The concurrent resolution was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

It is understood in Washington that President Cleveland will not act in the matter of the appointment of a San Francisco Postmaster until after the return of Senator Hearst from Louisville, whether he has gone in the company of friends to attend the horse sale and races. There is great uncertainty as to the outcome of the contest. The leading candidates are A. J. Moulder, Gen. Patrick F. Walsh, August Reis and W. D. English. The general opinion there seems to be that Moulder has the best chance of appointment.

The Post says: "San Francisco is to have the Democratic State Convention. This decision of the State Committee is regarded as favorable to the re-nomination of Governor Stoneman. The Democrats regard San Francisco as a lucky place in which to hold their State Conventions. Haught was nominated here in 1867, and Irwin won the prize here in 1875. The Republicans have generally clung to Sacramento, but this year they will try their luck with Los Angeles."

A bill passed the United States Senate Thursday, creating a new judicial circuit of the United States. Under this bill the eighth circuit is made to include Nebraska, Kansas, Arkansas and Colorado; the ninth to include Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri; the tenth to include California, Oregon and Nevada. The bill also provides that the present Judge of the Ninth District as heretofore constituted (being California, Oregon and Nevada), shall be Judge of the new Tenth Circuit, and the President shall appoint a Judge for the new Ninth Circuit.

The Hancock Monument fund now amounts to $36,277. Gen. Fry says he expects $10,000 more from Philadelphia and Boston. The Grant Monument fund stands at $121,003 75.

Jeff. Ought to be Boxed Up.

New York, May 13.—The Tribune's Carlisle, (Pa.), special of May 12th says: Norman Porter of this State and now conductor of a Pullman car running from New York City to Atlanta, on the Cumberland Valley railroad, who was brutally attacked while attending a meeting in the South where Jeff. Davis was delivering one of his speeches, said to-day: "When Jeff. Davis delivered his speech at Montgomery, Alabama; I was present, and heard every word he said. I listened and kept quiet, although my blood boiled within me until Davis said: 'I often prayed to live to see the day when both Lincoln and Grant were dead and in hell, and as my prayer has been granted, I am ready to die.' This was too much for me, and I turned around to get out of the crowd. Being indiscreet enough, I remarked as I left, 'It is a pity Jeff. Davis was not hanged at Fortress Monroe.' I had hardly said it when a man behind me reached forward and with a knife cut me as you see. He started to run and I after him, but he got away in the crowd."

Senator Hearst Causes President Cleveland to Smile.

A Washington dispatch says by request of the President, Senator Hearst called at the White House Tuesday to discuss the subject of the San Francisco Postmasterhip. During a long discussion of the merits of the different candidates, it appeared that neither the President nor Senator Hearst were in a hurry to decide the question, and it was decided to let the matter go over until Monday, when another consultation will be held. During the discussion, in reply to a remark of the President that he did not think Senator Hearst would ask the appointment of any one except a man who would conduct the affairs of the office in a business-like way, the Senator said: "My dear young man, I would not suggest any other kind of a man, even to make myself President." "I believe you," said the President, as he smiled at the familiar form of address.

The Killing of Capt. Crawford.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The Secretary of State has received a preliminary report from Consul Brigham at Paso del Norte, Mexico, in regard to the killing of Capt. Crawford, by the Mexican soldiers. He says: "There is no way of obtaining definite information owing to the absence of witnesses to the tragedy, but adds that it is conceded on both sides that the attack was made by irregular Mexican troops employed by the State of Chihuahua, through an unfortunate accident and without malice. He further says that the depredations committed in Mexico by Indians nurtured by the United States Government is a grievance that cannot well be overlooked. The circumstances attending the affair are being investigated by the Mexican authorities."

The President's Marriage.

The Examiner's Washington special says: A letter received from H. Russell the President's former law partner effectively sets at rest any doubts as to the latter's marriage with Miss Frankie Folsom. Mr. Russell says the marriage, according to the present programme, will occur at Buffalo, June 12th. The latest advices from Europe are to the effect that Mrs. Folsom was suffering from a relapse of the Roman fever, but that if she is able to travel there will be no delay in the date of the wedding. On the other hand, if the wedding should be postponed on account of Mrs. Folsom's illness, it will occur a week after their return to America.

The California State Prohibition Convention has made the following nominations: Governor, Joel Russell, ofameda; Lieutenant Governor, A. D. Boren, of San Bernardino; Secretary of State, Robt. Thompson, of San Francisco; Treasurer, H. S. Graves, of Sutter; Congressmen, R. L. Simmons, W. O. Clark, W. W. Smith, Chas. Hemler, Frank Allenbaugh and W. A. Harris.

Now is the time for a thorough cleaning of the city, preparatory for warm weather. Let every citizen put his premises in thorough sanitary condition.

FAIR'S METHODS.

How Slippery Joems Headwinks His Constituents.

Corson Appeal.

Every day or so a dispatch turns up in some Coast paper, about the labors of Col. Fair for his sagebrush constituents. If a mail route is put on from Trout Creek to Frog Hollow the Bourbon press rings with the praises of the man who is doing such a vast deal for his State.

These dispatches are all marked "Special," which means that the regular Associated Press service will not take them; but they are rung in through some telegraph reporter, who will send anything skipping along the wires for a $20 piece.

The way Fair manages to work his game is as follows: He goes to the Secretary's Department and finds out what mail routes are likely to be established or expedited, and then sits down and writes to the locality to be effected, telling some prominent Democrat that he will work hard to get them a better mail service. The prominent Democrat shows the letter around, and there is great joy over the aforesaid consideration of Slippery Joems.

In a few weeks the thing is done, without so much as Fair turning his hand over, and then he poses for the next six months for the credit of his great labor and the accompanying great results.

During his incumbency as Senator there have been three mail routes restored in this State, all of which do not carry over twenty letters a week, and on this record he asks the people to return him to the United States Senate.

Fair had no more to do with the restoring of these routes than Dennis Kearney. All the dispatches now flooding this Coast are paid for by Fair, and sent out to deceive the people.

Fair simply looks upon his constituents as so many cattle to be purchased election day, and figures out that those he hood-winks he can get for nothing.

A FALL OF BIRDS.

A Strange Spectacle in the Streets of Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 9.—This morning's sunrise disclosed a strange spectacle in the vicinity of the Board of Trade. The tower of the building reaches a height of 350 feet above the street, and near the top is surrounded at night by a great circle of electric lights. When the watchman made his rounds at daylight he found the sidewalks and streets covered with thousands of dead birds of all sorts. Later the electrician came down, and when he saw the great pile of birds, he said it was the electric light at the top of the tower that caused the slaughter. When he went with a lantern with several members of the Board of Trade the roof was found to be covered with dead birds, and each of the lamps in the big circle of light was filled with them. One globe had eight birds in it, two being still alive. These birds are of every known variety, and many unknown, or, rather, unfamiliar species are among the lot. All shades and colors are there—scarlet, blue, pink, red, emerald, mottled, black and white. There were some snipe and plovers among them. The theory is that they were migratory flocks, going from south to north, and were attracted by the great light, which, the moment they touched it, killed them. The birds are all of the small species, the snipe being the largest, and this kind usually fly lower than ducks and geese—about three hundred feet high. The great light is just at that height, and accounts for the destruction of the birds. There are of them enough to turn all the ladies hats in Illinois. Many Bohemians were in the streets with bags and baskets, and in less than two hours the street was cleared of every vestige of bird-show, but the roof of the Board of Trade building is still covered. The janitor will remove them to-morrow.

A million dollars will not buy a ray of sunshine.

SURE ENOUGH INFORMATION.—"Yes," said a Democratic office-seeker from the West, "I shall tell about the President's marriage. It's a sure thing. I got it from headquarters."

"What do you mean by headquarters?"

"The White House. I was just up there to see about the Postoffice in my town, and they told me Mr. Cleveland was engaged."—N. Y. Sun.

There is a rumor that Mr. Geo. Russell, partner of John Bradley, will be an applicant for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Nevada. The prevailing opinion is nevertheless that Governor Adams will receive the honor. In that case the Republican party must look about for strong timber out of which to make the nomination. At present the question seems to be between ex-Governor Kinkead and Hon. T. B. Rickly.—Carson Index.

Hon. Thomas P. Macic, formerly a member of the Nevada Assembly, has been mentioned in connection with the position of Surveyor General, as a possible successor to General Freble providing the latter declines to become a candidate for re-election.—Free Lance.

AN EMBALMER'S SECRET.

Was There a Blunder in Preserving the Body of President Garfield?

Adrian (Mich.) Cor. Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Times publishes the following interview with a professional embalmer:

"It is very easy to make a blunder which might be fraught with disagreeable results. Now, take the case of President Garfield, for instance," said he.

"President Garfield? What was there about his case?" queried the scribe.

"Ah, I forgot for a moment that I was talking to an outsider, but the matter has long ceased to be a secret in the ranks of the profession, and I might as well tell it to you. Now listen. President Garfield died at Elberon on the 19th of September, 1881, on the eightieth day after he was shot. On the afternoon of the 21st the train bearing his remains reached Washington, and on the very next day it was announced that decomposition had already set in, the casket was closed, and the remains shut from view. Why? Somebody blundered. I am not going to give the man's name, for he is out of business now, I believe; I am sure he ought to be. But he undertook to embalm the remains, and he did it, but he blundered in doing it. Let me explain. Embalming is done for two objects, which are entirely distinct from each other, and to reach either different methods are employed. If the embalmer wishes to preserve the features and complexion intact he opens the brachial artery in the left arm (no blood remains in the arteries after death, you know) and injects about a quart of a certain preparation, the components of which are a profound secret, but the basis of which is arsenic, or, more properly speaking, arseniate of soda. But if the embalming is done with the idea of preserving the subject for the dissecting-table, preserving the tissues, you see, an incision is made in the carotid artery, and about a gallon of entirely different fluid injected. Were you ever in a dissecting room? Yes. Well, then, you have noticed the copper color of subjects on the table. The coloration is caused by the action of the fluid. And this is precisely what happened with the remains of President Garfield. They were treated with the latter instead of the former mixture."

"But how do you know this?"

"I know it. Let me explain further. The train bearing the remains reached Cleveland on the afternoon of Saturday the 24 inst. They were to lie in state on Sunday and be buried on Monday. "Were you in Cleveland then?"

"I was."

"And did you see the remains?"

"No; it was announced that decomposition had set in before the remains left Washington, and consequently they were not exposed to view."

"Well, I saw the remains, and can vouch for the correctness of what I say. Cleveland had been almost as much Garfield's home as Mexico. It was desired that, if possible, the people there should have a chance to get a last look at the face of the man they had loved and honored so much. Accordingly, on reaching Cleveland, the remains were hurried to an undertaker's establishment, and the night was spent in trying to get the face blanched into presentable shape. But it was no use. Work as we would and experiment as we dared, too much time had elapsed since the wrong fluid had been injected, and the face was discolored beyond our efforts to bleach it. Sunday morning found us still at work. It also found thousands of people in line ready to pass through the pavilion and past the catafalque. It was too late to get the remains back into the casket, and all that day and far into the night crowds passed by that empty casket. The remains were placed back on Sunday night and only taken to the cemetery on Monday."

"There, I have told you a story that has long been current in the profession. You can give it to the public, if you like."

CONKLIN'S HATE FOR GARFIELD.—Ex-Senator Conklin's dislike to Garfield does not cease with the flight of time. He was down here last week signing a case before the Supreme Court. He visited a Turkish bath-house one day, and what occurred there can best be described in the Senator's own words: "In the compartment next to me were two young men. There was nothing but a thin partition between us, and every word of the conversation could be heard distinctly. Finally one of them asked his companion why he had not been down to see their new baby. The other made some excuse, and asked the boy's name. 'James Graham Hopkins,' was the fond parent's reply. Prompted by curiosity," continued Conklin, "I looked over the partition, and before God, the first speaker's head was no larger than a big red apple."—Washington Cor. Chicago News.

The harvest gathered in the fields of the past is to be brought home for the use of the present.

THE CRADLE.

BELL.—At Cloverdale, Nye county, Nevada, April 28, 1886, to the wife of Hon. T. J. Bell, a son—a nine-pounder.

PRICE OF DAILY JOURNAL.
12 CENTS PER WEEK.

SATURDAY.....MAY 15, 1886.

Dayton has the mumps.
Servant girls are in demand.
Lovely days but rather cool nights.
Wm. Nichols is up from Wadsworth.
C. H. Stoddard came up from the Bay yesterday.
Miss McKee departed for a trip to the Bay last night.
Tommy Freehill came down from Virginia last night.
Several Renoites contemplate Summering at Monterey.
Haggins Ben Ali won the big race at Louisville yesterday.
Heavy storms and loss of life still continue in the East.

Walter Hastings will not hold his regular dance this evening.
Mr. Henderson, the gentlemanly book fiend, was in town yesterday.

Deputy Controller Holbrook came down from Carson last night.
Dr. Bergetein intends to go below tonight. His mother is very sick.

Jerry Schooling left for Downville last night, and will be absent a week.

Miss Leona Raynolds leaves for Wadsworth this morning on a visit to friends.

The agent is in town distributing the second volume of "Grant's Memoirs."

The steam laundry is the liveliest and the Justice Court the dullest place in town.

The JOURNAL employees are looking for the brute who poisoned the office dog "Snooks."

Seats for "A Pair of Kids" are now on sale at Thurston's news depot, in the postoffice building.

The Carson boys are expected down to-morrow to have a friendly game of ball with our boys.

Don't forget to take care of your flowers for the Grand Army boys to use on Decoration Day.

Charley Richardson returned to Reno yesterday after an absence of several years. Glad to see him.

The California Refinery at San Francisco, reduced the price of sugar an eighth of a cent on Wednesday.

Miss Fanny Barnett, daughter of Tom Barnett, departed on last night's train for a three months' visit in California.

Matt, M. Allen will pass through Reno for the East this morning with R. P. Ashe's stable of racers, in the new car Alta.

The Reno Guards were out on a street parade last evening. The boys will make a good showing in Carson on the Fourth.

A. C. Cleveland passed through on yesterday morning's train. Senator Stewart returned to Carson yesterday morning.

Jake Muller, of the firm of Muller, Schmitt & Co., of Carson, accompanied by his daughter, departed for the Bay last night.

Grizzly Dan is again in limbo, having secured board and lodging in the Lyon county jail because a Greenfield barber's razors stuck to his fingers.

This morning an excursion party, from San Francisco, will pass here for St. Paul, Minn., where the Presbyterian General Assembly is soon to be held.

Fred White, Geo. Stokes, El Wilson and Chas. Dealy went to Carson yesterday afternoon to attend the ball given by the Junior Hose Co., of that place last evening.

Mr. Edmund James, recently appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate as Receiver at the Land Office in Carson, has filed his bond of $60,000 at Washington.

The "Bunch of Keys" company arrived from the East Thursday evening and attended "Mixed Pickles" here, departing for Carson and Virginia City yesterday morning. They will pass through here Sunday night on their way to San Francisco where they open Monday evening. It is a fine troupe and will undoubtedly favor Reno on its way back.

At the Prison.
Reno, Nev., May 13, 1886.
EDITOR NEV. STATE JOURNAL:—Mother Dolores, Sisters Mary Joseph and Mary Vincent, together with a large number of the young ladies and children of Mt. St. Mary's Academy, of Reno, made a descent upon the Prison to-day about 10:30 A. M., and captured the whole outfit from the Warden down. Father Maloney, of Reno, was of the party. The Rev. D. Mesgher, of Virginia City, and L. Tormey, of Carson City, put in an appearance shortly after. All were received and shown about the Prison and "lunched" by the Warden, who, by the way, had his hands full, as there was sixty-three in the party. All enjoyed the visit and made a picnic of it. Father Maloney got up some races into which the boys entered with spirit, as the winner, upon his arrival at the goal, received from the Rev. hand a 25c piece. The party left highly pleased with their reception and the attention shown by the Warden and his officers.

"A PAIR OF KIDS."—Of this play which will convulse our theater-goers next Wednesday evening, the Cincinnati Enquirer remarks:

Blizzard or no blizzard, it seems that the announcement of Ezra Kendall's appearance in a new conceit, entitled "A Pair of Kids," at Havila's was enough to crowd the auditorium of that cozy house both at the matinee and night performances yesterday with an audience that fairly howled itself hoarse with laughter. Ezra Kendall is the new departure in comedy characterization, and in his distinct line is as much a shining light as Harry Dixey or Nat. Goodwin. As "Jules Button," Mr. Kendall furnishes his audience with a modern "Solon Shingle" which kept them in a roaring good humor during the entire performance. There is a quaintness about him that is perfectly irresistible, and you laugh before you really know what it is all about. If there is any magnetism in a shock of frowzy gray hair, which persists in climbing over the top of a bald pate, Kendall has a whole stock of it. His support is exceptionally clever. "A Pair of Kids" is full of good things from beginning to end and we would advise all to see it.

FINE CATTLE.—A. Banta, one of our best and therefore most prosperous farmers returned from California yesterday, and brought with him a fine lot of shorthorn Durham cattle, which he purchased of Sylvester Scott, of Cloverdale. The herd consists of a bull, seven cows and four calves. The bull is 4 years old, weighs 2,100, and was imported from Australia, being called the Duke of Auckland. He is the handsomest animal in the State, and took the sweepstakes at the Sacramento Fair last Fall. He will be exhibited at our State Fair this Fall and will certainly wear the blue ribbon. The "Mayday Mazourka" is a fine 7-year-old cow, and all the others are recorded thoroughbreds.

MEMORIAL DAY.—The Committee of Arrangements for Memorial Day, met on Wednesday and appointed Brigadier General William Webster, Marshal, Dr. H. H. Hagan and Rev. G. M. Spencer, Orators. The choir will be under the direction of Miss Eva Quatife. A complete programme and line of march will be published later. The Committee not only invites, but expects the citizens of Reno and vicinity to unite with the Grand Army and aid them in appropriately observing the day. An invitation is also cordially extended to the Mexican Veterans and all old soldiers to unite with us in honoring their late comrades in arms.

By This Committee.

COLONEL SHAW'S DAYTON LECTURE.—The lecture on the war, given by Colonel H. G. Shaw at Dayton Wednesday evening, was very well attended, and passed off well, giving good satisfaction. The Virginia brass band, under the efficient leadership of Professor Carn, with its martial music appropriate to the subject and occasion, added materially to the effect, and at the close of the lecture a dance was given, which the Daytonites enjoyed much. The Colonel will probably lecture in Carson next.

THE HARRIS MINE.—Eight tons of ore from the famous Harris mine, near Washoe Valley, just reduced at the Bowie mill, Six-mile Canyon, yielded $2,500 in bullion, principally gold. Ore worth over $300 per ton is pretty good to have. There is more where that came from.

Gen. Logan at Work.
Gen. Logan is just now the hardest worker among the statesmen at Washington, writes a correspondent of the Philadelphia Press. Besides attending to his Senatorial and social duties and a very large private correspondence, he works four hours a day on his history. He finds time for this extra labor by adopting the good old plan of early rising. By the time that most of his fellow-Senators have risen and breakfasted the General's pen has traveled over several pages of manuscript. He is always at his desk by 7 o'clock in the morning. Between that hour and 11 o'clock all the daily work on "The Great Conspiracy" is done. The room in which he works is the smallest of the apartments in his beautiful home near the Boundary. It adjoins his dressing-room, and is furnished in a style of soldierly simplicity. The floor is shining black oak, covered with here and there a rug. A bookcase in one corner contains about three hundred volumes—mostly historical and politico-economic works—bound uniformly in red leather. Two pictures adorn the walls, one a fine portrait of Gen. Grant on horseback and the other a printing of the battle of Chapultepec. The Senator sits at a large walnut desk directly in front of the only window in the room.

The General works in his usual Senate attire, with his coat closely buttoned up to his neck. With scarcely a movement of weariness he sits erect hour after hour, till the usual daily quota has been added to the book. He is by no means a fluent writer, but he is a very painstaking one. A page of about two hundred words is his hourly average. He is never satisfied with the first copy, nor does he intrust it to his Secretary to be rewritten. He writes it over again himself, often spending more time on the revision than on the first draft. At nearly every page he takes down one of the books of reference from the top of his desk. He can readily find the matter he wishes to see, because, before beginning his history, he spent several months hunting up authorities and marking the pages which he foresaw would be of use to him. When he has referred to a book he does not indulge in that habit, so dear to the heart of most men of letters, of throwing it aside on a chair or on the floor, but replaces it carefully. If thoughts refuse to come or words decline to express them the only sign of annoyance observable in the General is a vigorous pulling of his mustache. At the stroke of 11 o'clock he stops writing, often in the middle of a page, wipes his pen carefully, and sees that every book and every sheet of paper is in its proper place before leaving for the Senate chamber.

Photographing a Mob.

A New York correspondent to the Bulletin, describes how mobs, etc., are photographed on the spot:

I saw yesterday one of the curious devices which have been put in use for the first time during the recent troubles with the strikers on the Third Avenue horse-car line. It consists of a photographic camera, in the shape of a disk, eight inches in diameter and half an inch thick. The opening in the disk is not more than half an inch in diameter, and when buttoned under a man's vest a very small hole suffices. The interior of the disk is so arranged that by pulling a string, eight separate photos, arranged upon a revolving inside disk, are brought in front of the lens. The cap of the lens is controlled by the same string, one pull of which uncovers the lens and the next pull of which brings another sensitive plate into position. Thus a detective with one of these cameras can mingle with the mob and take eight pictures of the liveliest incidents he sees. The pictures I saw yesterday taken of various scourgings are simply admirable; several of them had been enlarged to show how perfectly men could be identified, and in some of them there were scores of figures with the faces so distinct as to be instantly recognized. You might talk to a man wearing one of these cameras for half an hour without discovering the little lens which can be used to record so much.

The stage lines to Lake Tahoe from both Truckee and Carson are now running on regular schedule time for the season, and are already carrying quite a number of passengers to the beautiful lake. The hotels all around the lake are accommodating all the people who call on them and are rapidly being put in order for the grand tourist rush.

THE PROBABLE ENDING.
Carson Tribune, 12th.
The present labor troubles, coupled with war against capital and the antagonism to the immigration of Chinese labor, must end in the verifications of the Native American party, not with such extreme regulations as during the days of 1855-6, but with the provision that none but native sons of the soil or those who shall have lived fifteen years in the United States and who are able to read and write in the language of the country shall be eligible to hold official position. There are but few educated foreign-born citizens who do not indorse such a reform, and most certainly such a political party would sweep the country from North to South and from East to West before it had been two years in operation. It is useless to deny the fact that the irresponsible foreign element rules the United States and that by the restrictions only of such a party movement as referred to above can the native born control the governmental affairs. These remarks are but in repetition of similar ones that have from time to time appeared in the Tribune's columns and commend themselves to every right thinking person. If, for instance, the Chinese could, like other foreigners enjoy the rights of citizenship, would their peculiar habits cause the present demand for their expulsion?

In conversing with an educated German a few days since on this subject he informed the writer that he and a score of his personal friends supported the Know-Nothing ticket of 1855, although unable to gain admission into the secret halls of the order, and nothing would please him better than to perform the same act before he died. It is for the bright young men of America to come to the front, for with them rests the future prosperity of the country, and surely it cannot be said that any land in the world produces more able native sons than Columbia. Just now is the accepted time, young Americans; now the days of salvation for your own and descendants' rights, and if you fail in asserting your claims to rule now, the day of grace and opportunity may pass over never to return. "Awake! Arise! Or be forever fallen!"

THE LITTLE GIANT FENCE MACHINE FOR MAKING THE UNIVERSAL COMBINATION FENCE—DAVID YOUNG, PATENTEE.—Young and Jennings have just received one of those machines for which they have purchased the sole right to manufacture and sell this now universally known and guaranteed to be the best, most durable and portable fence ever manufactured, and peculiarly and especially adapted to fill a long felt want. This fence is needed and in time will be used by everyone that requires a fence, either around the house, garden or ranch. It is cheap, durable and serviceable, to keep in check horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, chickens, etc., and restrain dogs and coyotes, having all the advantages of a picket fence in restraining animals from jumping, and not so liable to decay, and at much less cost, and no barbs to injure valuable stock, thus placing it far in advance of any other fence now in use. Hence it is inevitably the fence of the future. Wherever this fence has been introduced it has superseded all others. It stands without a rival, and why? Because it is portable. A half mile of this fence may be taken down and removed in a few hours. The material may be hauled and a large number of stacks fenced in a single day. Fields may be fenced for temporary pasturage to turn all kinds of stock, on short notice and but little labor. It is strong—it has been proven by actual test that it is six times stronger than barbed wire. It is durable—it will last three times as long as any other fence. It is hog proof, horse proof, coyote proof, rabbit proof. No fence hitherto tried, except this, will keep sheep in and dogs and coyotes out. It is cheap—in Ohio, Illinois, Missouri and other States where it has been introduced and extensively used it is declared to be from 30 to 40 percent cheaper than any other fence, and taking into consideration its durability, at least 50 per cent. cheaper. We can refer you to thousands who have used it—this is their testimony. We will be pleased to furnish, upon application, any information desired, and we think that we can demonstrate that our fence is all that we claim for it. It is the fence.

It is rumored that Armory Hall is to be turned into a theater by taking out the back end and adding a stage on to extend back about forty feet. The stage is to be fitted up with fine scenery and all the necessary accessories to a first-class theater.

Industrial Progress.
The San Francisco Bulletin says: Many clear-minded men from the East who are taking Pacific Coast observations, and who look at the past only to judge the future, believe that the incoming of settlers to this side of the continent during the next decade will be unexampled in the history of immigration. So many fertile valleys in California and Oregon, accessible to San Francisco by rail and water, remain unsettled, that it can hardly be possible that their productive capacities will be overlooked. It is gratifying to realize that the immigration now in progress, and to be increased, represents home-seeking young men from the agricultural regions of the great West, who have American ideas of civilization and not Oriental notions of non-assimilation.

Los Angeles already has two National Banks, and a third has been proposed.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. Feb. 21-awf-lyr
